Teaching Biology in Schools

Global Research, Issues, and Trends

Edited by Kostas Kampourakis, University of Geneva, Switzerland and Michael J. Reiss, Institute of Education, University of London, UK

Series: Teaching and Learning in Science Series

An indispensable tool biology teacher educators, researchers, graduate students, and practising teachers, this book presents up-to-date research, addresses common misconceptions, and discusses the pedagogical content knowledge necessary for effective teaching of key topics in biology. Chapters cover core topics in biology and tackle broader issues that cut across topics, such as learning environments, worldviews, and the nature of scientific inquiry and explanation. Written by leading experts on their respective topics from a range of countries across the world, this international book transcends national curricula and highlights global issues, problems, and trends in biology literacy.
